TRAFFIC RESUMED AFTER BIG STORM

Slate Quarries Start Operations Again—Need of Funds for Schools.

Arvonka, Va., March 24.—For the first time in more than a week, traffic was resumed on the Buckingham branch of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway yesterday, the trains running through from Brems to Roanoke. Freight and express has accumulated to an enormous extent, and it will be some time before depots will be emptied and normal traffic re-established.

All the six larger slate quarries in the area have resumed work, though the last over the week before the largest of them will again be making slate, owing to the immense damage done them by the flood of last week. Farmers throughout the county are more than a month behind in their spring plowing, owing to the excessive snows and rains of the past two months. It is yet too early to predict correctly, but many think this will be a banner year throughout this section, and alfalfa planters are jubilant over the prospect of a bountiful fruit people also feel confident that this will be a great fruit year.

A Washington corporation, with large capital, is preparing to plant 2,000 acres of land in red apples, the largest industry given the tremendous impetus to all business throughout northeastern Buckingham, as much money will be spent in planting and preparing the lands and putting up the necessary buildings. The company proposes later to erect large cold storage warehouses and wood-working mills for barrel building, as well as other mills for the windfalls. Apple experts from Nelson county, after a minute examination, declare the Buckingham soil as one as any in the world for all kinds of red apples. Many others are preparing to put out orchards on a smaller scale.

The county school board of Buckingham county will shortly hold a meeting for the purpose of looking thoroughly into the matter of increasing the school revenues of the county. The Board of Supervisors at its next meeting will be asked to increase the levy from 30 cents upon the $100, according to present, to 40 cents or more, according to the district.

The Concord graded school, of Francis District, which was burned last fall, will shortly be rebuilt. The plan will call for a handsome building that was destroyed by fire. There was full insurance upon the building.

The announcement has been made in a discreet manner as to the amounts which will be given to the graded high schools of the county by the State funds. The Buckingham school, which usually gets $100, has been cut to $50, and the officers of that district are sending a special petition to Richmond to have the amount restored, as the school is now, and has for the past three years, been doing a most excellent work. Many of the best teachers in the county were educated at this school, later taking special courses elsewhere.

The death of Captain Samuel Mosley, a well known veteran, raconteur and banjo player, brought sadness to his many friends and relatives in this county. He was one of the many old landmarks who are rapidly passing. During the past year many of the older citizens have passed away, including such men as Louis Dillrell Jones, Marcus Cleveland Elean, Willis B. Spencer, Richard Payne, Evan R. Williams, David Morgan and many others.

The United States Weather Bureau is now engaged in collecting all the data possible in regard to the recent cyclone which originated near here and passed over James River into Plutanna county, leaving destruction in its wake. The question as to whether it was a rotary or straight wind, the one which citizens are called upon to help straighten out.

NEGRO WHO SHOT CONDUCTOR IS PLACED UNDER ARREST

Winston-Salem, N. C., March 24.—Fuel Halston, the negro who shot Railway Conductor Holden at Kennesaw, Friday night while leaving the Winston train after being compelled to pay his fare, was arrested early this morning at the home of his sister in Rockingham county.

The officers drove ten miles in a hack last night in order to reach the cabin in which Halston was found. He was asleep and the officers brought him to jail here on a freight train this morning. The pistol used by the negro is in the possession of the officers. It is believed that Holden will recover.

Methodists Will Meet Monday

Roanoke, Va., March 24.—One of the most interesting facts connected with the session of the Baltimore Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, this year, which will convene in Roanoke on Wednesday morning next, is that of the 135 pastors in the conference who are now doing the active work of the ministry, twenty-eight must be appointed to new fields of labor at this session.

The conference, because of the "four years' time limit." It does not follow that only the twenty-eight preachers who have served their present pastoral charges for four years, consequently, the twenty-eight members of the conference who will be appointed to new fields of labor at this session, are not the only ones who will be changed to another charge at the close of the first, second or third year, if the occasion demands, and he cannot remain longer than four years. It is rather an unusual fact, however, in connection with the conference that the necessary removal of one pastor creates the necessity for the removal of several others. No pastor in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is appointed to a charge for a longer period than one year, and he may be changed to another charge at the close of the first, second or third year, if the occasion demands, and he cannot remain longer than four years. It is rather an unusual fact, however, in connection with the conference that the necessary removal of one pastor creates the necessity for the removal of several others. No pastor in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is appointed to a charge for a longer period than one year, and he may be changed to another charge at the close of the first, second or third year, if the occasion demands, and he cannot remain longer than four years.

The guess work regarding the appointments of the preachers for each succeeding year begins as far in advance as the conference season as the members of the conference are gathered together. The guess work is indulged in freely by preachers and laymen, and it is not infrequently occurs that the appointments arranged by the "kitchen cabinets" are found to be true forecasts, as they often agree with the appointments made by the cabinet of the conference and announced by the presiding bishop at the closing session.

Before the session of the General Conference of 1910, every bishop in the church had the power of making any appointment of his own, without any conference over which he might preside, without the knowledge of his cabinet, if he so pleased. The law of the church in this connection now is that no bishop has the right to make an appointment without the consent of a conference without letting every presiding elder in the cabinet know the same, and every bishop must read the entire list of appointments to his cabinet before they are read to the conference.

There are twenty-eight lay delegates to the Baltimore Conference who sustain the superannuated relation, preachers who as the result of age or ill health no longer receive appointments to pastoral charges and who in many instances are dependent upon the conference for support. Only four members of this conference sustain the superannuated relation; these do not receive appointments but they do not receive their support from the conference.

There are twenty-eight day delegates who are members of this conference, four from each of the seven districts. The Baltimore Conference is the only one of the forty-six conferences of the church that elects a majority of its members to the present college of bishops as former members of this body. Bishop Phelps W. Wilson, of Baltimore, and Bishop Collins Denny, of Richmond, were elected to the episcopacy from this conference.

Secretary Harwood Present at Meeting and Addresses Travelers.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Farmville, Va., March 24.—Post M. Travelers' Protective Association, held its annual meeting Friday night, elected officers and appointed delegates to the State meeting to be held in Suffolk in May. State Secretary H. L. Harwood was present and addressed the meeting on the progress of the association, State and national. All the old officers of Post M. were re-elected for the ensuing year, with the exception of the chaplain, Rev. H. M. Fugate, who has removed to Norfolk in his place, Rev. W. L. Watts, of Norfolk, was elected chaplain. The incoming pastor of the Baptist Church, was chosen. A committee from the Farmville Business Men's Association met with the association and extended a most cordial invitation to the State organization to hold its 1913 annual meeting in Farmville, and a strong pull will be made at the Suffolk convention to have Farmville selected for next year.

The Supervisors of Prince Edward have agreed to the construction of three reinforced concrete bridges which is a step forward in the good roads' movement. Two of these bridges are to be built on the road from Little Buffalo at a point just outside of Farmville.

William Robertson will begin his work with the churches on April 1, being the successor of Rev. J. H. Davis, who recently left for the States.

A well-planned and successful burglary recently committed in the store of Richardson & Crall has just been traced back to the city. Several days after it had been committed, the store was reported to the police. Making their way in through the back door and other doors, the burglars bored through a hole large enough to allow the entrance of a man, who then loaded himself and perhaps others with goods and other things. The burglars were then carefully pulled over a good box in the floor and the tracks of the burglar filled with sand.

All Farmville is hoping that Congress will concur in the bill offered by Senator Swanson and unanimously passed, appropriating $40,000 for the purchase of a site for the erection of a public building for this town. Work will be commenced on the Farmville High School building in June, the probable site being the same as occupied by the present school house.

Farmers in this section are discouraged on account of the continuous rains. The downpour of to-day overflowed the rivers again, and this will retard work in lowlands for another week or longer. Many have not yet burned their heads for tobacco plants, and no preparations have been made for planting any crops.
